

SUBPOENA RESPONSE:

When the Cost is Yours but the Battle Isn't.

Got Served?

We can help. Use Trustpoint to respond and save time and money. Don't let it interrupt your business.

3rd party subpoenas are a hassle. You are not involved with the lawsuit but you still have to respond. It's costly, time consuming, and a headache for your daily operations.

We take the pain out of subpoena response. By providing a seamless handoff from your team to ours, we can respond with a proven and efficient process, one that will minimally effect your daily operation and save you money. Simply give us a call and we will take care of the rest.

Collection: We will manage the entire collection workflow. A combination of remote, on-site, cloud and third party tools are used to set up hardware for remote collection, copying data to drives, or FTP.

Processing: Once we have the data, we make sure that only those records that match the subpoena requirements are reviewed for production. We create timeline reports by custodian, analyze keyword hits, thread emails and remove duplicates. Our proven techniques usually eliminate between 40 & 90% of collected records, which means less to review, and dramatic cost savings for our clients.

Reviewing and Production: When the data is ready, we quickly assemble a team at one of our review centers or the client's preferred location. Our review process has been relentlessly optimized into one that minimizes cost and maximizes defensibility. Your records are sorted by relevance, confidentiality, and privilege and finally produced in any format you need.
